

What is the Foreclosure Prevention Project?

The Rhode Island Bar Association's Foreclosure Prevention Project is specifically designed to help citizens at risk of losing their homes. Coordinated with the Rhode Island Bar Association's Public Service Programs, volunteer attorneys directly represent clients in many areas of civil law to avoid foreclosure. These areas of law may include Family Law, Benefits, Bankruptcy, Loan Modifications, Probate among others.

How Does the Foreclosure Prevention Project Work?

If you or a family member are experiencing financial issues that may lead to the loss of your home, call the Foreclosure Prevention Project. You will speak to a staff member who will ask some questions about your legal problem. Any information you give will be held in the strictest confidence. After your interview, if you are eligible, a staff member will contact an attorney who has expertise in handling cases such as yours. If we are able to place your case, you will be given the attorney's name and telephone number and instructed to call his/her office to arrange your first appointment. At this point, all services provided for you by the attorney will be free of charge. You may be required to pay court fees or other minor litigation costs.

Don't Wait, Get Help Now!

You may need assistance if you own a home and are having trouble paying your mortgage or anticipate future problems and have experienced a loss of income due to:

- Loss of Employment/Salary decrease
- Divorce/Separation
- Death of a Family Member
- Illness
- Loss of Child Support/Alimony
- Benefits (Cut/Pending/Denied)

Please call the Foreclosure Prevention Project at (401) 421-7758.

Who Are the Foreclosure Prevention Attorneys ?

A large group of private attorneys located throughout the state belong to the Foreclosure Prevention Project referral panel. All the panel attorneys donate their time to help citizens in need.

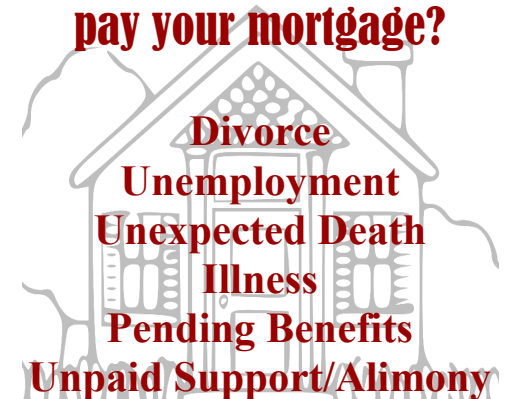

Founded in 1898, the mission of the Rhode Island Bar Association is to represent the legal profession of the State, serve the public and the profession and promote justice, professional excellence and respect of the Law.

Are you at risk of losing your home?

Can't make your mortgage payments?
HELP MAY BE AVAILABLE.
Contact us at (401) 421-7758
to find out if you are eligible for assistance.

Are the following issues affecting your ability to pay your mortgage?

Call (401) 421-7758

Foreclosure Prevention Project

A Public Service Program of the
Rhode Island Bar Association
41 Sharpe Drive
Cranston, RI 02920
Phone (401) 421-7758
Fax (401) 421-2703
info@ribar.com
www.ribar.com

Are financial issues affecting your mortgage?

Contact the Rhode Island Bar Association's Foreclosure
Prevention
Project
(401) 421-7758